U.F.A. LEADERSHIP

THE suggestion that the U.F.A. organization should be discontinued, and the organization divided into two smaller units, throughout the province, does not seem very practical. It would surely mean the beginning of the end as far as the U.F.A. was concerned, either as a political or social force. The present larger unit of organization has been the best, and smaller than seems impossible.

As the U.F.A. is something more than a political or economic organization, The Albertan may be permitted to refer to the presidency. It is common knowledge that the two most prominent members of the organization have ambitions for the presidency. No one mentioned so far as a competitor has the qualities of leadership, the ripe experience and the careful judgment of the present leader, H. W. Wood.

It is needless to say that "H. W. Wood" cannot approve of all his policies and theories. But every one must recognize his sincerity, his lofty principles, his noble ideals and his general capacity. The U.F.A. is at a critical stage in its development, both economic and political. It would make a serious mistake if it changed horses in the midst of a very turbulent stream.

MAYOR SHOULD DECLARE

If the Calgary Herald properly interprets the action of Mayor Webster in urging a change in the charge for children at the hospital and follows it to the logical conclusion, then the time has arrived for some definite action. The people who have arrived through many years to maintain a progressive health policy in this city, The Herald, in approving of the mayor's health policy in respect to the hospital, proceeds to pneumonia of the present organization of the schools. The people who can pay, pay! It is a motto.

The Herald's plan was tried in this city and failed. The policy underlying the school clinic is a co-operative policy. Just the same as underlies the school inspection, and just the same as underlies the hospital itself. If the parents of children who attend public school can pay for the tuition of the school, why not have them pay? That will be the next argument.

The public is not concerned so much with the attitude of the Calgary Herald. It has always been reactionary and fought progress, particularly in educational and health organization. It opposed health inspection in the schools; it opposed the organization of the clinic; it opposed the extension of the clinic. It has opposed every action.

But what about the mayor? Does the Calgary Herald, which depends with so much vigor the beginning of his plan, interpret him to the end? Does he not discriminate in entire school clinics? That is at the bottom of his scheme to centralize the health organization of the city.

The Albertan cannot believe that the mayor is reactionary—or as reactionary as the Herald. But he would be well advised, if he wants to remain the public at large. There is no thought when he was elected mayor by such a magnificent majority that the school clinic was in danger. Now is the time for him to decide himself.

EDWARD JOHNSON

EDWARD Johnson, a Canadian tenor, has paid a high compliment to his native land in undertaking his present concert tour at the height of the New York operatic season. Raking injury to a fine record vocal career, he has gone to the depths of which this Canadian successor to Caruso at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, sacrifices comfort and monetary gain to bring pleasure and inspiration to the west.

There is probably no city in Canada east of Toronto, Hamilton and Guelph, his birthplace, where Johnson will receive as warm and enthusiastic a reception as in Calgary. Canadian sentiment is strong; our people are proud of those who achieve success through their art. We hope they will be quick to show their approval. We also hope that Mr. Johnson will have a knowledge of the vocal art which, for a young city, is surprising and our people can appreciate an artist of Johnson's attainments. His appearance at the Grand theatre tomorrow should be the signal for a de-

Author of "Cattie," Etc.

AFTERMATH

By BERTON BRALEY
I wrote some verses of a recent date, in which I talked of a "brand new state." Or a "brand new page" and a "brand new book" which was an authority with regard to the provincial bank resolution and Mr. Irvine, judge by his recent speech, will be opposed. Then will come the tug-of-war.

All Thomas is quite right in getting all the information available about the civic utilities. In fact he would be derelict in his duties if he did anything else. Every person wants information and the streetcar men are perfectly entitled to a certain amount of withholding of information. He does not approach the subject exactly as one would expect from one who, it is said, is such an ardent and long-standing supporter of public ownership. He may have been more interesting had Mr. Thomas made that suggestion during the recent election campaign.

The hectic career of "Big" Ryan from the time when he escaped from Kingston penitentiary until he returns to that grim prison to serve a life sentence, is not likely to appeal to the most sensational. Ryan's attempt to make himself a cheap and tawdry hero, even for a few days, was not a success. He got some attention, but he could not have been of very great satisfaction even to such a morbid prisoner.

Mr. Stewart was correct in so far as the permanent dispensation of rights on Spray Lakes until he has consulted with the government and the city. We would suggest that he might intercept the word "city" to mean the mayor and council sitting together.

Crerar and Dunning are on their way east, and it is assumed that they are to be taken into the King government. The tandem will do little to add to the fun of the political comedy, but will strengthen any cabinet. But he is not likely to join any administration that does not turn its face westward. Crerar is also a good man, but as the Winnipeg Free Press says, he is not as acceptable as he was twelve months ago.

Some old-timers resent the assertion that they are out to kill the client, says the Calgary Herald. It is certain that many of them are not. But the Calgary Herald is out to kill the client, and the client and the client always will be. The Calgary Herald is not democratic and believes in the caste system with doles handed out to the "poor people" who cannot afford certain needed assistance. It has accepted co-operative education, but it has not yet grasped a co-operative policy of health.

Was the Calgary street railway built for the service of the people, or for the purpose of making a profit? And which of us, last night, decided that?

This is a basic principle upon which some decision should be reached.

Another day has passed and still there is no news of the proposed and the proposed disposition of the natural resources. It looks much as if Premier Greenfield was not quite satisfied with the best offer he could get and was coming back to consult with the members of his cabinet about it.

The Alberta committee of Commerce and Agriculture, which is in session in this city today, is attempting in a very laudable manner to give assistance in solving the real problems of the agriculture and trade industries. If every person would help with assistance in place of persistent criticism, or in addition to criticism, the result would be more satisfactory.

It is reported or rumored that the mayor is reactionary—or as reactionary as the Herald. But he would be well advised, if he wants to remain the public at large. There is no thought when he was elected mayor by such a magnificent majority that the school clinic was in danger. Now is the time for him to decide himself.

Four incomplete words are given above. The first four letters of each word are missing—being indicated by the stars. Those four letters are exact in the same order in each case. Can you supply the missing letters?

Yesterday's answer:

The drawing shows how the equilateral triangular field was divided among the four brothers so that each had an equal share in size and shape to the others.

Attention, Mr. New!

PLYMOUTH, Eng.—A letter, tossed about in the Atlantic for three weeks, was written in a plain hand. It was addressed to a man here. His name was John Whitman, a Canadian, and for Vancouver, put the epistle in a sealed tin with a tiny flag attached and sent it over the ocean. It was found in the can along one of the shores in the Azores Islands and forwarded the letter by post.

Lawyer Got an Earful

"And what time did the robbery take place?" asked the lawyer.

"We don't care what you think," put in the attorney. "We want to know what the witness thinks."

"Then," rejoined the witness, "I think it was about noon."

"That's what the robbery took," said the lawyer.

"Well, King of Grace got fired. Kick-ed him out. And King jobs are hard to get these days."

LETTERS TO THE EDITORWHAT REALLY HAPPENED AT THE CITY COUNCIL*MERRILL DENNISON

With the possible exception of Harry J. OHiggins and Willard Mack, both of whom have achieved international reputations, Canada has produced but a "talkfest" and for its bunch of politicians, it is a "talking shop" of especial note. During the past year, however, the work of a young Canadian author, Merrill Dennison, has made the rounds of the literary and the artistic world of the east "set up and set down" in a manner that a small town is rapidly arising.

Merrill Dennison has produced a book of short stories, "The Unwritten North," in a former article I briefly mentioned. The book is a collection of short stories, and I am sure that the author will have an extended review.

And your fund in the bank's division is not a general rule as easy or as interesting to read as stories. The playright is intent upon his work, and the author is intent upon his play, or setting his values and effects across the footlights, rather than upon the printed page.

Two of the one-act plays in this volume have been put with great success by university and community players in the east, and the plays themselves have been put with great success by amateur theatrical groups. Harry J. OHiggins has in three acts, will be put on this season for the Provincial Players of New York. Other cities have put the plays in "The Unwritten North" act much as the author intended them, and the characterization has been ably done.

On the other hand, the plays have been put on with great success by amateur theatrical groups in the west, and the characters in Dennison's plays are of the type peculiar to the small towns and small cities of the west.

The literary quality of my plays may be measured by the number of amateur theatrical groups that have put them on with great success.

This is, of course, a good point of view for one who intends to write plays. Nevertheless, it is not the only factor. They are pleasant, photographic, and most of all, they are good.

This is the tribute Merril Denison pays to his mother. If fame comes to her, let us give her a share in the credit.

During the last few weeks we have been gratified by the many letters describing the little theater movement here in Calgary, and I have been asked to underline the trend.

We may in the not too distant future find ourselves started with a company of comedy players. There is enough dramatic talent in this city, and we should be able to produce sufficient original plays by Canadian authors to keep our amateur stars and watch while. The one act plays of Merril Denison offer a fascinating opportunity for amateur players to put on something new and of typically Canadian interest. Perhaps we shall see some more yet, in Calgary, by Calgary players.
